History & company milestones.

In 2025 CALDAN Group, acquired SEMA, a French engineering company known for its high-performance conveyor technologies and a long-term technology and distribution partner to CALDAN in the region.

This strategic acquisition will significantly strengthen CALDAN's position in the global industrial automation market and accelerate its expansion in southern Europe, well in line with CALDAN's long-term strategy.

Development in Turnover (Mio. EUR) & Milestones

Ownership structure.

R&D and production.

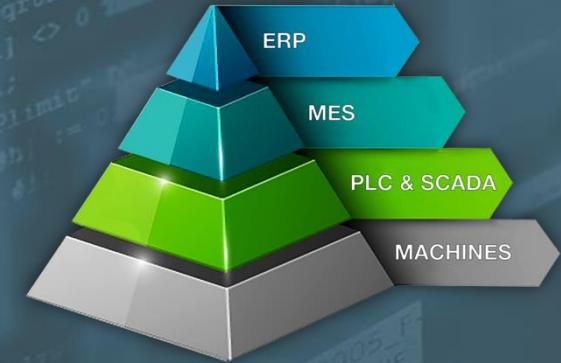

- all conveyor systems design, production and testing based in Denmark
- 8.400 m2 modern production facilities
- efficient manufacturing of innovative products
- training facilities at CALDAN Conveyor Academy

- latest design and manufacturing techniques
  - highest quality and safety standards
  - focus on product development -
in house R&D department

Control systems department.

Integrated Intelligence:

Our conveyor systems are only as good as their “heart” - the built-in electrical control system. The requirements for system safety and various system functions have increased rapidly over the years. As a result, the control systems for our intelligent conveyor solutions have become increasingly complex and sophisticated.

For more 60 years, our in-house Control Systems Department has been designing and developing control and automation systems for our conveyors in close cooperation with our customers. Hardware and software are powerfully combined at CALDAN - for integrated quality without unnecessary interfaces.

We offer:

- process handling through PLC control system - Siemens & Allan Bradley
- connection to customer ERP / MES systems
- coupling of databases for recipe handling
